

Brent Knoll Primary School

Newsletter

FRIDAY 4th November 2022

floors More
CARPETS & FLOORING

Dear Parents/Carers Parent-teacher meetings are being held next week. If you haven't yet booked an appointment, please do so as all the teachers are very keen to update you on how your children are progressing in their lessons.

With the colder, changeable weather upon us, it is important for children to bring a coat to school each day as we still like to go outside at break-times, even in a bit of rain.

Kind regards Chris Burman

Remembrance Day Poppies are on sale at school each day. A small donation is welcome for each one. Remembrance will be marked in school at 11am on the 11th.

Hopefully, everyone will already have seen the email and poster advertising our one-off Saturday School, which will be run on Saturday 3rd December. This is a fund-raiser run by staff which can be supported by parents who might want to leave the children in our care whilst they undertake some Christmas shopping. Children can be dropped off for the morning or afternoon, or the day! Please ask if you have any questions about what is on offer.

Thanks go to Mr Hollands at VANTECH for his generous support in keeping the school mini-bus on the road. The mini-bus will be next in use for the Y1 and Y2 trip to Glastonbury Rural Life Museum on Tuesday 15th November.

Earlier in the week, the children of the pre-school were visited by our local police officer. The children heard about the work of the police and then enjoyed sitting in the police car, listening to the siren!

After some useful recycling of furniture and the installation of a solar-powered light, the Unicorns' old toy shed has now become Griffin class's 'Reading Shed'. The 'Reading Shed' (photos above) is now a popular location for all the children to enjoy a good story with their friends within their outdoor play space. The room was created by Miss Perrett and Mrs Stockham, along with the help of their families. Thanks also go to our friends at Cheddar's 'Floors With More' who kindly supplied and fitted the Reading Shed's carpet.